

Digital Life Assignment 5 – Being A Good Digital Citizen

Use one of the Web 2.0 Tools on the page below to make a creative representation of what you believe it takes to be a good digital citizen.

Be sure to include the following ideas in your representation.

1. Think before you post or text -- a bad reputation could be just a click away. Before you press the "send" button, imagine the last person in the world that you'd want seeing what you post.
2. What goes around comes around – If you want your privacy respected, respect others' privacy. Posting an embarrassing photo or forwarding a friend's private text without asking can cause unintended hurt or damage to others.
3. Spread heart, not hurt – If you wouldn't say it in person, don't say it online. Stand up for those who are bullied or harassed, and let them know that you're there for them.
4. Give and get credit – We're all proud of what we create. Illegal downloading, digital cheating, and cutting and pasting other people's stuff may be easy, but that doesn't make it right. You have the responsibility to respect other people's creative work -- and the right to have your own work respected.
5. Make this a world you want to live in – Spread the good stuff. Create, share, tag, comment, and contribute to the online world in positive ways.
6. Ask yourself, "What would Grandma Say?" – If you would not be proud to show your grandmother what you're about to post, maybe it's not such a good idea.

Remember, a whole bunch of text does not necessarily show learning. I would rather you don't include much. If you want to use images for this assignment, make sure to use creative commons licensed images for this assignment.
